OKLAHOMA ACCA NEWS

Locking Caps on condensing unit access valves rules dropped from the code in the State of Oklahoma due to the comments of several selected industry representatives, and the representation of the numbers of Contractors that showed up in opposition to the original Code section, that had an effect on the boards decision. The Oklahoma Codes Committee has voted to Delete IMC 1102.3 from the acception of the adoption of the IMC 2015 code.

The Board also commented on the interest of the Contractors showing up for their voice in helping the Board making the deletion. The Technical Committee is open to the input of those that are effected by the decisions that they have to make and this is an example of what can be done that effects Contractors in the State of Oklahoma.

Does that give any of OREGON's Contractors some food for thought?

15 Habits of Exceptionally Likable People

1. They have a positive mental attitude both seen and felt by others
2. They speak in a carefully disciplined and friendly tone
3. They pay close attention to someone speaking to them
4. They are able to maintain their composure in all circumstances
5. They are patient
6. They have an open mind
7. They smile when speaking with others
8. They know that not all their thoughts need to be expressed
9. They don't procrastinate
10. They engage in at least one good deed a day
11. They find a lesson in failure rather than brood over it
12. They act as if the person they are speaking to is the most important in the world
13. They praise others in a genuine way without being excessive
14. They have someone they trust point out their flaws

Something you probably don't know, but likable people will actually ask others to point out their flaws and then immediately start improving on them. They quickly find their flaws and even more quickly fix or improve them.

15. They don't ask for anything

If something needs to get done, they just do it. Regardless how difficult the task, they always persevere and complete it on time

Do you know any exceptionally likable people? If you do, pay close attention to what they do and how they do it. Then add those habits to your life, repeat them as often as possible, and after practice you may become and exceptionally likable person.
